

TAMARA SUSSMAN

Artist Statement

From Another Los Angeles: Waiting

This new artwork, in blog form, combines writing and photography to imagine another version of Los Angeles. Blogs are both public and intimate; they unfold over time like a diary. This one tells the story of a Los Angeles in the depths of a financial crisis, a few of the people that inhabit this city and their efforts to navigate the system in which they find themselves enmeshed.